A Forceful Story of Faith

Enumclaw, WA — My Lady follows the life of vibrant Jolene O'Neil as she discovers love but is troubled by unanswered questions. Facing her problems with an inspiring faith, Jolene pushes forward in a compelling story, filled with love, compromises, and deception.

Author, Joyce Wheeler, creates realistic characters courageous enough to face real life problems that readers can relate to. These characters will touch the heart of every reader as they struggle through loss and learn the rippling effects their decisions have on the lives of others.

Whisked away to Europe, Jolene is unaware that there is another brooding about her return to the states. Is it just an accident or is it murder that suddenly takes her husband's life and brings her back home? Jolene struggles through her questions and grief while at a youth Bible camp in South Dakota, when a dark, compelling man from her past returns to haunt her again.

From a honeymoon in Hawaii to the terror-filled back roads in the Black Hills, Jolene finds herself running from a compromised past into a hope for her future. Can an unrepentant sinner familiar with God choose a course against His will and still find salvation? It will take every ounce of Jolene's faith and trust in God to take the needed steps that will connect the pieces. Readers will appreciate the wisdom of this timeless truth:

She looked at him with questioning eyes, "But what will people think of me?"

He replied quietly "It only matters what God thinks. Why don't you ask Him?"

Growing up on the prairies of South Dakota, author, Joyce Wheeler walked along their paths enjoying creation and weaving tales that would reflect upon her appreciation of God's world. As readers trace Jolene's footsteps along the prairies, they will discover an inspiring, often humorous, tale of love, faith and courage.
